WENTWORTH 14 WARRENSBURG 7

One Of The Most Thrilling
Contests Ever Seen In Lexington

'T WAS A FAMOUS VICTORY

The Normalites Were Outplayed All The Way. The Cadets Showed Intelligent Coaching and Wonderful Staying Qualities.

The contest Friday between the two old rivals, the football teams of Warrensburg Normal and the Wentworth Military academy, was a hummer from the beginning to the end. As in many former games between these two schools, a victory was recorded in the minds of the Normalites before the game was played. The visitors had made considerable of a reputation as a scoring machine. They had overwhelmed Kemper, Westminster and in few other lesser lights by one sided scores. They had perfected the forward pass until it was almost a sure thing whenever tried; and in this play they had staked their all. They had worked it beautifully against former opponents until the idea formed that it would work just as surely against every other team. The Wentworth game was merely a means of further improvement in the play and that they would down opponent after opponent in the race for the State College Championship with an uncrossed goal line with no other shot in their locker but the forward pass. But, history has a disagreeable way sometimes in repeating itself. Too little respect for the prowess of the cadets. Over confidence and a one play repertoire played havoc with their ambition. The teachers, it seems, can not learn that the cadets are never defeated until the final whistle has blown. The cadets are game to the core and always in condition for a long grueling contest.

The game started with the kickoff by the Normalites. The cadets in short order proved their superiority by ripping the visitors line from end to end, and rushing the ball into the teacher's territory, where it was lost on a fumble. Their offensive work was superb. Now, their defense was on trial, and right well did it meet the test. The teacher's forward passing bothered them in the first and second quarters, but they soon warmed to their work and put this play on the hummer, however, not until the visitors had made one that was a hair raiser. It was caught and the runner made a touchdown. This, however, happened after the cadets had shown that this play was in their repertoire too, for Slusher made a beauty to Randolph for a touchdown. And to show the visitors that this was merely a side line of theirs, they hammered the ball over on good old fashioned football. Through the line, around the ends they went just as though it was a habit. The teachers were whipped. The score was 14 to 7 at the end of the first half.

The second half, or professionally speaking, the third and fourth quarters, produced some very spirited work. The visitors were gradually stripped of everything but their pet, the forward pass, and that wouldn't work, although they had the ball once might near over when a teacher very obligingly fumbled. That marked the end of their endeavor. The fourth quarter resolved itself into a basket ball game. The ball whenever in possession of the teachers was passed and repassed and then forward passed, always with a hope, of course, that one would go through and save them from defeat, but there was nothing doing. They had met a better team, one lighter by many pounds, but coached thoroughly to meet every possible contingency and trained to the minute. A practice game is very enlightening sometimes, and the teachers, no doubt, will profit by their experience, and win every other game on their schedule. Here's hoping anyway.

The cadets played as though they knew football. Every man was on his toes, alert to take advantage of every mistake of an opponent. The line was adamant. The backs were quick to start and to pick the openings. The whole team played a hard, intelligent game through the whole sixty minutes, and are to be congratulated on defeating so worthy an opponent.

Mrs. Susan Spears Dead.

Mrs. Susan Spears died about 12 o'clock Thursday night at her home on East Main street, after an illness of several months. Her death being due to old age and general debility.

Mrs. Spears was born in Augusta county, Virginia, August 31, 1832, and was 79 years and two months old. Her maiden name was Susan McDowell. In 1856 she was married in Saline county to John Spears, who died about nine years ago. They moved to Lexington in 1877, where she has since resided.

The following children survive: Mrs. George Stewart of Winton, Maggie, Charles, Hugh and John Spears, all of Lexington. She is also survived by one brother, H. H. McDowell of Lee's Summit.

Mrs. Spears was held in highest esteem by all who knew her. She was a consistent member of the Methodist church, a devoted mother and a kind and loving friend.

The funeral, conducted by Rev. C. M. Davenport and Rev. T. M. Cobb was held Sunday afternoon at two o'clock from the Methodist church.

"Paid in Full."

At Wright's Grand Thursday, Nov. 21, C. S. Primrose will present Eugene Walter's "Paid in Full," a play of contemporaneous American life, by everybody considered the greatest and the most entertaining drama produced in this country in years, and beyond all question the most popular. No other play has ever earned such a reputation as "Paid in Full" has attained. Its success is truly sensational. It made such a tremendous hit in New York, that it ran there for two years, the only play, not musical comedy ever to remain all summer on Broadway. It is the reigning success everywhere that it has been in New York. Five companies played it all last season. The same are appearing in it now. This is a greater number than ever before had played the same piece at the same time. It shows that the public likes "Paid in Full" better than any other play, and cannot get enough of it, for it is a conspicuous fact that on its fifth and sixth visits to cities its audiences have been larger each time.

The fact of itself shows the tremendous hold the play has on public favor. "A sweeping success—a knock-out hit," is the way Munsey's magazine described it, while Everybody's called it, "the sensational success of Broadway." Equally strong in praise has been every leading dramatic critic in this country. New York welcomed it several times after the two years' run had closed.

All the five companies appeared on different occasions in New York, each as cordially received as the other, so that every organization now appearing in the play can claim to be the Broadway cast.

"Paid in Full" is a play of intense human interest. It elutes the sympathies. So vivid is it that the spectator seems to be looking upon reality rather than fiction. Its appeal is resistless.

The coming of this play is the most interesting theatrical event of the season, and the engagement will add to the marvelous record "Paid in Full" has made for American theatricals.

Vaudeville at the Electric Theatre tonight.
